VEST TO THE FRONT

Cleveland Arraigned in Seathing Terms.

THE SENATE BILL OR NOTHING

The Lion and the Lamb Led by the Ways and Means Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Today was one of dramatic interest in the senate, for the fate of the tariff bill depended upon the course pursued in the upper branch of congress. Friends of the tariff bill wore anxious faces, and more than once during the day felt that the very danger point had been reached. The enemies of the bill at times believed they would be able to defeat it. When adjournment came the situation was still perplexing. The senate proceedings proper were of a peculiar nature, in that the debate was carried on entirely by Democrats, save a brief speech by Senator Sherman and a question by Senator Aldrich. The principal speeches were those of Senators Hill and Vest. Senator Hill's position indorsing the President in emphatic tones was one of the most conspicuous incidents.

Senator Vest took occasion to talk in plain terms in defense of the right of the senate and house to manage its conferences without executive interference. His criticisms of the President's course and the action of Wilson was more severe than was expected.

The action of Senator Vilas in preceding his speech with a motion to strike out the one-eighth differential on sugar was an additional sensation to the fact that it was probable the motion would carry. It caused consternation until it was found the motion may be declared out of order.

The statements of Senators Smith and Blanchard were important, indicating that a change of the sugar schedule might mean the loss of their votes, while Senator Blanchard stated decidedly that he would not vote for the bill if the change was made.

Senator Gray's vigorous speech was enlivened by a brisk colloquy with Senator Hill. The exciting day's proceedings closed with an affirmative motion to adjourn over until Monday.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—In the senate today, Hill made a vigorous speech commending the President's tariff letter and said the time for the senate to yield is now, before further humiliation, embarrassment and discord. In the light of the President's letter the house cannot honorably retreat. The President cannot approve the senate bill after what he has said in this remarkable letter. It clearly foreshadows the senate bill should the house finally concur in the amendment.

Vest replied to Hill, and said it was a subject for congratulation that Hill and the President had at last found a platform upon which both could stand. The lion and lamb had at last lain down together and were led as a little child by the ways and means committee. He left it to others to say which was the lion and which was the lamb.

Vest arraigned the President in seathing terms, and said: "Where did the President get the right to dictate to congress, to denounce one branch to another? Did he embody in his single being all democracy? Mr. Cleveland is a big man, but the Democratic party is bigger than any man. If the President could send here to his friends to stand firm he had a right to send his cabinet ministers here to coerce members in congress; he had a right to do as he had done during the fight over the repeal of the Sherman law, to punish recalcitrant members of his own party. I give it as my opinion," said Vest in conclusion, "that we will pass this bill or nothing." Vest said Hill's defense of the President reminded him of a case he once tried, when the defense made was that his client was so utterly depraved that he was incapable of the crime. The man was acquitted, but in thanking him said he would rather receive a life sentence of imprisonment than be compelled to listen to such a defense.

Insurance Changes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The Pacific Insurance Union proposes to make a radical change in the system of collecting premiums on policies. In view of the abuse of the credit system it is probable that a general order will be made making all premiums payable in cash or by note at 7 per cent interest for the period of accommodation. No policy to be delivered or risk covered unless the assured complies with the alternative arrangement. A further change contemplates the limitation of payment to three-fourths of the loss. Both changes are ascribed to the existence of industrial disturbances.

An Illicit Distiller Caught.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Internal revenue officers have discovered that N. Zitkovic, proprietor of a distillery at Cupertino, Santa Clara county, has been selling illicit brandy to San Francisco dealers. There is evidence that he sold 4,000 gallons, owing the government $3600 taxes. His plant is held by the authorities pending payment of taxes. He will probably not be prosecuted criminally if the back taxes are paid. Other distillers who have violated the law will be similarly treated.

Anarchists Arrested.

ROME, July 20.—Twenty-two anarchists have been arrested in Province during the last twenty-four hours. An infernal machine with a burning fuse attached was found at the door of the military tribunal at Cagliani, on the Island of Sardinia last night.

The Pullman Laundry Starts.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The Pullman laundry started today with a force of forty girls, most of whom were old employes. Men were at work in the shops, cleaning and oiling and making an inspection, and in addition 250 applications were received from old workmen.

A Washout.

SANTA FE, N. M., July 20.—A cloudburst twelve miles north of this city washed out 300 feet of track on the narrow gauge road today, and it is expected that regular trains between this city and Denver will not be resumed until Monday.

A Big Fire Raging.

COTTONWOOD, July 20.—A big fire is raging on the Shasta county side of Cottonwood valley. Several thousand acres have been burned over and many miles of fencing consumed. Farmers are making united efforts to check it.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED.

The Engine Broke Down and Jumped the Track.

OAKLAND CITY, Ind., July 20.—A special excursion train from Albion, Ill., to Marengo, Ind., was wrecked about four miles east of here this morning. The wreck was caused by the breaking of the engine. Melvine Stanley was killed beneath the wreck, George Pitcher had his skull fractured, Milford Dickey was injured in the chest, Arch Bassett, head and chest injured; Manfred Byns of English, Ind., legs mangled and will die. There were in all ten or fifteen slightly injured. The excursionists were all members of churches or congregations of Albion, Ill., and were on their annual picnic excursion. The engine broke down and jumped the track and rolled down a steep embankment, pulling the coaches with it.

Mail for California Burned.

LA JUNTA, Col., July 20.—A mail car on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, California express No. 3, was burned at Timpas, twenty miles from here, today. The fire is supposed to have caught from sparks from the engine. Over 200 sacks of papers and twenty pouches of letters, all for California points was consumed.

Warm Weather in Eastern Cities.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Cities of the eastern states report intense heat today, many stating that it was the hottest in twenty years. The following are the high temperatures in the shade: New York, 98 degrees; Boston, 95; Little Falls, 114; Lewiston (Me.), 106; Bangor (Me.), 100; Lawrence (Mass.), 95.

THE TRESTLE WRECK

THE SHERBOURNE BOY ADHERES TO HIS STORY.

Other Testimony of a Damaging Character Against the Accused Strikers.

WOODLAND, July 20.—The examination of the strikers accused of wrecking the train at the trestle west of Sacramento was resumed this morning. Johnny Sherbourne, the boy who drove Worden and five others to the trestle, was again put on the stand. The boy adhered closely to the story as told yesterday, and proved a damaging witness against the accused strikers. J. W. Hill, a freight conductor, was the next witness. He testified to seeing the defendants, Worden and Hatch and several others, in the boy's wagon, being driven toward the trestle. He also told of compromising talk which he overheard from the men in the wagon.

Harry Teople, a brakeman on the same train, gave similar testimony. J. P. Graham, a Western Union line repairer, testified that just before the wreck as he was riding along on a railroad bicycle, he was halted at a trestle by two men who threatened to shoot him. The men smashed his bicycle and detached it and then ordered him to walk back toward Sacramento. He walked a little way, then sat down by the roadside and saw the passenger train as it came along and ran upon the trestle and plunged off into the water. Graham could not identify any of the prisoners as the men he saw at the trestle.

A Clash at South Enid.

WICHITA, Kas., July 20.—A clash and interchange of shots occurred between United States soldiers guarding the Rock Island railway property and men from South Enid, O.T., near that town early this morning. The Enid men attempted to surprise the troops guarding the railway bridge, presumably intending to destroy the structure. They were discovered, and in the melee that followed Corporal Gleaves was seriously wounded by a bullet in the left side. The firing brought a detachment of soldiers, which dispersed the mob and arrested several rioters. The excitement tonight is unabated.

The Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Wheat—Steady; December, $1.01½; new, seller 92c; May, $1.07⅝.

Barley—Firm; December, 91⅝c; new seller, 83½c.

Corn—$1.45.

Bran—$16.50 per ton.

Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The senate today confirmed the following nominations: Clifton R. Breckinridge, Arkansas, minister to Russia.

Postmasters: California — Mark Hughes at Sonora; William A. Griffin at Oakdale.

Pledged to Protect Property.

TRUCKEE, July 20.—Citizens of this place held a mass meeting tonight and adopted resolutions pledging themselves to maintain law and order and to protect property. The cause of the strikers was warmly indorsed.

The Regular Dividend.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Pullman Palace Car company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable August 15th.

Will Not Employ A.R.U. Men.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The Missouri Pacific has given notice that it will not employ members of the American Railway Union.

THE STATE BOARD OF TRADE.

New Line of Work Marked Out for the Future.

The State Board of Trade has arranged to place on exhibition in the rooms at 575 Market street, San Francisco, the choice of many of the county exhibits at the Midwinter Fair. These will be open to all visitors.

Among other projects which the board has devised for the convenience of strangers who desire homes in California, is one which contemplates a listing of all the improved and unimproved places that are for sale in the State. Any person who has a place for sale can send to the State Board of Trade for suitable blanks for a description of the property, price, etc., which blanks, after being filled out, are to be returned to the board's headquarters, where they will be kept in book form, by counties, for the convenience of the many people who call there daily for just such information as said description will afford. By this means new comers will be facilitated in their search for homes, and those who have land for sale will be assisted in their search for buyers. This work, instead of interfering with the business of real estate men, as some have suggested, will be found in practice to promote interest in their respective localities and increase their business.

NEARING THE END.

The Strike Expected to Be Settled by Monday.

MORE MEN RETURN TO WORK

The Number of Guards Going Out on Trains Greatly Reduced.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—It is prophesied on all hands that the Southern Pacific strike is to be settled by Monday next. It is rumored that negotiations of some sort are pending between the strike leaders and the railroad officials, but these rumors cannot be authenticated. It is simply known that the strikers at Oakland wired to President Debs, asking whether they were authorized to negotiate with the railroad officials and that Debs answered practically instructing the California unions to act as they should deem advisable.

In the face of these stories of pending negotiations it is a significant fact that the strikers are no longer offering any violent resistence and that the number of guards going out on trains has been greatly reduced. The railroad officials insist that they are running their trains without the least difficulty, and that they need no more men, while the strikers, on the other hand, declare that the operating department is still woefully crippled. Tonight for the first time since the strike was inaugurated the northbound Oregon express was sent out, and not until tomorrow night at least will the evening eastbound overland train be restored. Today 609 men were at work in the shops. Yesterday only 426 men could be induced to return.

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Railroad matters are quiet here this evening. Three arrests were made during the day of strikers who tried to intimidate men from working. The only incident of note was an attempt to cripple or wreck the Placerville train which left the city at 5 p.m. It stopped at the Buffalo brewery on Twenty-First street to load ice, and while this was being done, two men opened the air brakes and tried to uncouple some cars. Deputy Marshal W. B. Ferral captured one.

In an interview General Superintendent Fillmore said: "All trains are moving on the entire Pacific system, both through and local between Ogden and Portland and El Paso. Agents were notified today at all points to receive all freight offered for shipment. One hundred and ninety-four cars of freight were moved out of Sacramento today. There is not a pound of freight left over here for shipment to the east, all having been cleaned up. Seventeen firemen and about twenty-six switchmen arrived on the train from the east this evening and will go to work tomorrow morning. This will give us our full complement of yardmen and firemen.

"We have started up our shops at all terminal points with what men we require to do the work, confining the same to running repairs. There were 611 men in the Sacramento shops this morning, and no more will be taken on until further notice or the business demands it. We are having more applications in every branch of the service than we can find positions for. Our employes are all satisfied, and there is no trouble whatever at any point. Those who voluntarily left the company's service about three weeks ago are considered outsiders, and the company will treat them entirely as such. Their places have all been filled; hence there is no chance for re-employment."

A Question for Voters.

From the Tulare Register.

Just imagine that this country should fall into the hands of a political party whose leaders are constantly engaged in encouraging the spirit of lawlessness and disorder. What then. — FRESNO REPUBLICAN.

This is a question which a great many conservative voters are now asking. Recent events have made it manifest that there is a very considerable element in our population who can see no way of righting wrongs, real or fancied, except to destroy life, wreck trains and burn property, and that political party which essays to gain power by inflaming the passions and prejudices of men and denouncing the civic and military power which is trying to restore order, will awaken some election morning to find that the American people have no use for that political party as they have heretofore shown that they have no use for most of its leaders. What, indeed, would be the fortunes of this country if it should fall into the hands of that party? The question may well be asked and it cannot be asked too often.

THE PROPOSED RAILROAD.

Hanford Pushing the Scheme Vigorously.

The people of Hanford, so far, have not suffered their enthusiasm to cool on the project of building a road from Bakersfield to tidewater, by the assistance of the counties through which the proposed road will pass, if it ever is built. The plan originated in Hanford, and up to the present time it has received its chief support from there, although the people all over the valley have looked kindly upon it, so far as it has been called to their attention.

A communication from Contra Costa county, received by those in Hanford who have charge of the movement, reads thus:

"Antioch and Contra Costa county are heartily with you in this movement, body, soul and purse. We will do our share and more. We will grade the road and we will prepare a terminus at deep water, where the grain and other products of this princely domain can be placed on board ships and forwarded to all parts of the globe. We will agree that the Central Pacific shall never, no, never, by gold coin or by any of the arts they possess, get control of this, the people's road."

The communication also stated that a meeting of the citizens of Antioch would be called for Tuesday evening, at the pavilion there, for the purpose of endorsing the action taken by the people of Kings county in regard to building the road, and to arouse public sentiment in behalf of the enterprise.

There is not much news of what is being done by other counties and people along the line. Some of them have replied that they will do all they can, but this promise has not as yet crystallized into action.

NO CHOICE YET.

ONLY FOUR COMPETITORS NOW IN THE FIELD.

Balloting for a Plan for a High School Begun Last Night.

The Board of Education met last night pursuant to an adjournment from the evening before, and they continued their deliberations on the high school plans till a late hour. About four hours were spent in discussing and reexamining the merits and demerits of the various drawings and specifications, but no choice was made. By a series of ballots, however, the plans and specifications that may be accepted were reduced so as to be one of the following four: W. R. Bell of Los Angeles, J. Cather Newsom of San Francisco, A. C. Swartz of Fresno and George F. Costerisan of Salt Lake City.

Upon coming to order the reading of the minutes was dispensed with and a motion was made that each member vote for four plans as his choice. Another motion followed to the effect that the board inspect the drawings again so as to be able to vote more intelligently on the four which would be their choice. The time was limited to one hour. Those plans which, in the opinion of all the members, contained objectionable features were not given any time, and those which did not have specifications were likewise passed. Those that impressed the members to any extent were given careful study. Particular attention was given to the arrangement of class rooms, with regard to easy access to and egress from the general assembly room. The light in the rooms was also carefully considered.

At the conclusion of their inspection two informal ballots were taken, in which each member voted for four plans. On both ballots nine of the fifteen architects received one or more votes.

On third ballot all those who did not get more than one ballot were dropped. The result showed that W. R. Bell, J. Cather Newsom, A. C. Schwartz, George F. Costerisan and J. M. Curtis received the requisite number of votes to stay in the contest. On the sixth ballot each member voted for three out of the five plans, and those who did not receive at least three votes were dropped. This resulted in retiring J. M. Curtis. When the result of this ballot was announced a commotion was heard near the door of the hall. The cause of the trouble was that B. T. Alford got out of his chair rather hurriedly and bolted for the door. His cause was lost. He returned in about an hour and asked permission to address the board. When the permission was given he asked if specifications accompanied all the plans, and if they had been examined. He informed the board that the specifications were almost as important as the drawings, and he thought that several good plans had been dropped whose specifications were much better than those of some which were still in the contest. He thought that in this respect it overbalanced the slight defects in the drawings. In closing, he stated that he merely meant it as a suggestion.

Another hour was here given up for a further perusal of the four plans settled upon. They were carefully studied, and the merits of the different ones were compared.

Some urged a selection of one of the four, but, after discussion, it was decided to defer final action until tonight, in order to have their supervising architect go over the specifications and report on their completeness.

On the last ballot each of the four successful architects received three votes, with the exception of G. F. Costerisan, who got four. The latter received the four ballots on every vote taken. His plans are very favorably looked upon, and he is a probable winner. Mr. Costerisan did not come to Fresno in person to present his plans, but sent a written explanation.

In the reports of outside rumors in this paper regarding the possible effects of favoritism and the influence of interested parties, certain members of the board feel that the integrity of their motives had been indirectly aspersed, and it is due to them to say that there is no evidence to justify any such conclusion; but, on the contrary, the entire board is apparently giving its earnest attention to the various plans submitted, with a view to a conscientious decision upon their respective merits.

SOLDIERS NOT THE REMEDY.

An esteemed contemporary is given to repeating that "the experience of the past three weeks has demonstrated" that some fair and legal means must be taken for the settlement of differences between capital and labor. Inasmuch as "the experience" has been altogether with railroads, the employes of which declared that they had no complaints to make against their employers, but who still refused to run trains and by violence and threats prevented the men from running them and inflicted damage to the extent of millions upon millions of dollars on innocent people, it would seem as though this experience has demonstrated the necessity of strengthening our local and state governments so that mobs of misguided fanatics shall not be permitted with impunity to outrage every principle of human liberty and human rights, as they have done during the past fateful three weeks. * * * When the sympathizers with this senseless insurrection thoroughly realize the almost infinite harm that has been done to the cause of labor by this new organization they will burn their A. R. U. badges and try as hard as they can to forget the whole deplorable mistake.—Evening Expositor.

This is well enough as a piece of "jingoism," from a source that is apparently incapable of seeing but one side of a conflict which has been steadily growing in force and danger, and will continue to grow despite the result of the present outbreak until some legal means of control has been devised and set in operation, but it is a narrow and one-sided view of the situation.

The method adopted by the American Railway Union was indefensible and was doomed to disaster from the start—not necessarily because it was wrong, for the wrong has often triumphed even in free America—but because it was not sufficiently well organized to accomplish its purpose. Had the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers been in this strike as were other orders of trainmen, a standing army as large as that of France or Germany could not have broken the tie-up, for the reason that capable men could not have been procured to do the work. Large standing armies are a protection against turbulence and lawlessness, but they cannot compel men to work when they do not desire to do so.

This strike has been a failure simply because the order which undertook it was not sufficiently well organized. But defeat—and deserved defeat at that, for the wrongs of the corporations cannot make such a strike right—does not mean that the war between organized labor and organized capital has come to an end. It is more likely to prove the signal for renewed energy and more thorough organization on both sides, with the inevitable result that when the next clash comes the business of the country will be thrown into greater confusion than ever before, and the disaster will be more widespread and appalling.

The Republican cannot indorse its vociferous contemporary's idea of large armed forces as a remedy for this menace to the government and to social order. The Expositor ought to be able to look a little below the surface and expand the range of its vision beyond the limits of railroad franchises and rights of way in considering a question of such vital seriousness. It has certainly not failed to observe that despite the indefensible character of this strike and the great loss it has occasioned, that up to the time that violence was resorted to not less than four fifths of public sentiment was with it, and eagerly anxious for its success. This in itself is a serious matter to contemplate. When the labor interests of the country go wrong and still have the indorsement of the public it is not a time to talk of standing armies, but of discussing the means whereby these contentions may be settled without resort to unlawful and destructive methods.

If the conduct of organized capital has been such that the people are ready to condone crime because it is in opposition to it, the remedy is not in national guards and a standing army, but in the enforced settlement by legal process of the differences between these contending forces. Either that or the government will be forced to adopt the dangerous expedient of owning and operating the railroads. There are but two horns to the dilemma, and neither of them is the rule of military force.

Grover has again spoken, and this time to notify congress that he will not approve of tariff reform which does not put "raw materials" on the free list. The President is eminently right in his opinion that the bill as amended by the senate is not satisfactory, but he weakens his position by his equivocal utterances in regard to the sugar schedule, which is the most objectionable feature of the bill as now constituted. While deploring the scandal which has grown out of the manipulation of the sugar trust, he indicates quite plainly that he is in sympathy with the work done by the senate in fixing a duty on that necessity. The general tone of the letter is a strong demand for free raw materials, which as a matter of course is more nearly in conformity with the Democratic platform than the bill now before the conference committee, but not necessarily less objectionable in its effects on the industries of the country. Free raw materials are of course acceptable to the manufacturing interests, but they are not acceptable to the producers of those materials. And why this discrimination in favor of the manufacturers and against the producers of raw material? Why should the manufacturers of wool and iron have the benefit of the protection afforded by a duty and the producers of those articles be denied any consideration in this respect? The Democratic platform unquestionably declares for free raw materials, but in so doing it declares for palpable injustice to one industrial class as against the interests of another class. The effect of the President's unprecedented effort to influence legislation is problematical. It is a bold move, and the force of party influence and party exigency may induce the senate to yield to the executive will. This result is doubtful, however, as there is already a very strong sentiment in the senate in opposition to the dictatorial attitude so often assumed by the executive. Whatever the outcome, the President's course will serve to heighten public interest in the crisis now impending in tariff legislation.

President Cleveland's disavowal of sympathy for the trusts will fall upon deaf ears. His opportunity to demonstrate the sincerity of his utterances in regard to unlawful combinations of capital was completely dissipated when he appointed a corporation lawyer as attorney general, whose entrance into federal place and power was signalized by declaring unconstitutional anti-trust legislation which had already served in many instances to curb the development and operations of these conspiracies to unduly enlarge the profits of capital. President Cleveland can only increase his reputation for hypocrisy by empty utterances against the trusts.

Thomas Byrne, superintendent of the New York police, says that anarchists are difficult to deal with because they are superior in intelligence and education to the ordinary criminal, and are animated by a religious or fanatical spirit. The only good feature about them is that there are very few of them.—San Jose Mercury.

There are few anarchists of the kind described, but there are enough of the empty-headed, open-mouthed, shouting anarchists, who don't know what they are, or what's the matter with them, to make men of commonsense feel alarm for the future of the country which must claim them as citizens.

The police of Paris are trying to suppress the new sect which worships the devil. But why this distinction? If the people of Paris are allowed to serve the devil why may they not worship him?

There would be no objection to the income tax if the Democratic party were to be continued in power.

WILL THE SENATE OBEY?

If Not There Will be no Tariff Legislation by This Congress.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

The complication at Washington over the tariff bill has suddenly become intensely interesting. The situation, too, has undergone a striking change. When it became apparent that the conference committee could not agree there seemed to be but one question: Would the house consent to the passage of the Gorman-Brice bill? On every hand it was said that the senate would never adopt the Wilson bill The situation in this regard was well characterized by the remark attributed to Gorman, who is reported to have said in effect that it must be the amended senate bill or the McKinley law. The only apparent problem then, was whether the house would accept the senate amendments.

But the exciting and dramatic occurrences yesterday not only changed but absolutely reversed the situation. It is now no longer a question whether the house will yield to the senate, but whether the senate will surrender to the house. The attitude assumed by the house leaves no middle ground. There seems to be no probability, if, indeed, any possibility of a compromise. As the matter now stands there is but one alternative; either the senate must pass the Wilson bill or there will be no tariff legislation this session. Of course political and parliamentary situations of this kind often change rapidly, and there may yet be a settlement, a compromise, particularly if the senate acts with moderation and firmness. But there is certainly nothing at present to warrant this expectation.

Our Washington telegrams present full details of the remarkable proceedings in the house yesterday—proceedings which in one respect at least are without a precedent in the history of congress.

The enthusiastic reception accorded to Chairman Wilson by the Democratic members when he appeared for the purpose of announcing the absolute disagreement of the conference committee was a sufficient indication of the temper and purposes of the house. The gag program was then promptly reported from the committee on rules, the previous question was ordered, which allowed thirty minutes for debate. The Republicans were amused, and Reed merely suggested that the Democrats ought to have more time to express their opinions, whereupon he yielded to Tom Johnson, who immediately flushed the house. His attack upon the sugar trust, and his declaration that there was little choice between the McKinley bill and the Gorman bill was received with an enthusiastic burst of applause. But this was not more noticeable than Wilson's speech after the conference report was presented, and the marked approval of the Democrats of his defiance of the senate. The most remarkable point in his speech was that the house would never adjourn until refined sugar shall be placed on the free list. Then came the most intensely interesting if not the most dramatic incident of the day—the reading at the desk of the letter from President Cleveland to Mr. Wilson.

The contents of this letter, while important, of course, in connection with the tariff issues, are yet of little consequence compared with the act of the President in thus attempting to influence the action of congress upon a pending measure. It is one of the most extraordinary of the many extraordinary things that Mr. Cleveland has done. It will reopen the discussion of his unconstitutional encroachments upon the legislative power, which was precipitated by his open interference with congress in the matter of the repeal of the silver purchase act.

The letter, however, is likely to fall flat. It is a ridiculous attempt to straddle the situation. While in his stiff and stilted style he argues earnestly for free raw material according to the program of the Wilson bill, he pleads quite as earnestly for the sugar schedule of the senate. It is not surprising that the letter was received by the house in dead silence, in view of the fact that the defiant declaration of Wilson that the house would not adjourn until sugar would be placed on the free list had just been applauded to the echo.

The action of the speaker in appointing the same conferees after the house had adopted the motion to insist upon a disagreement to the senate amendments in gross was out of the usual, but not without precedent. The whole proceeding simply signifies the determination of the house to stand by the Wilson bill as a whole.

Will the senate surrender? That is the only question now.

Name Never Spoken.

From the Modesto Herald.

The local Democratic bosses extorted a half-hearted indorsement of Grover Cleveland's acts from the county convention. Down in Fresno they evidently don't know that such a man exists. The Democrats down there were assembled in convention for two or three days recently, but not once was the name of Grover Cleveland uttered, according to local chroniclers.

The Fresnoites made themselves ridiculous in another direction, however, attributing the failure of congress to reform the tariff to the tactics of the handful of Republicans in that body—pleading the "baby act." In other words the Fresno Democracy admitted that the big Democratic majority in congress is so incompetent that it must govern its course by the minority.

PRICKLY ASH, POKE ROOT AND POTASSIUM
Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison Rheumatism and Scrofula

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, giving the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 14th, 1893.—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 35 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby testify to the wonderful properties of P. P. P. for eruptions of the skin. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. I tried every known remedy but in vain, until P. P. P. was used, and am now entirely cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

Sequin, Tex., January 14, 1893.
Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief: it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,

SERVICEABLE AND STYLISH.

586—FENWICK COAT. Sizes, 34, 36, 38 and 40 Inches Bust Measure.

Although very plain in effect as illustrated, this model is most practical for traveling, seaside and general wear. It is formed by the combination of the "Fenwick" coat and the "Gilbert" skirt, and embodies some of the most stylish features of the present day—the full gored skirt, and the newest style of blazer, which is tight fitting in the back and rounding away in front, disclosing a shirt waist. A waistcoat, basque or blouse waist can be substituted for the shirt waist. Covert cloth, homespun, tweed and serges are the popular materials for general wear, but for summer use, costumes of linen or cotton duck or canvass are exceedingly stylish and cool. Rows of stitching are used to finish the sleeves, collar and edges of the coat.

A special illustration and full directions about the pattern will be found on the envelope in which it is enclosed.

508—Gilbert Skirt. Sizes, medium and Large.

For any dress goods, light, medium or heavy in weight, this is an excellent model; graceful, of becoming fullness, and of equal length all around. It has gored fronts and side breadths, and a bias seam down the middle of the back, and the shape at the top makes it especially easy to fit. Line throughout, and put an interlining of not too stiff crinoline to any desired depth, between the lining and the outside. Finished with rows of stitching, it combines well with any of the tailor-made basques or coats.

A special illustration and full directions about the pattern will be found on the envelope in which it is enclosed.

PRISONERS VERY SCARCE.

The Fresno Jail Has the Smallest Number in Eight Years.

It is a fact somewhat noteworthy that the Fresno jail is now nearly deserted. Of course, there are some hereditary and chronic occupants who never calculate on living any where else, and who will probably eat stew behind the bars of the hotel department until the ocean shall grass over. But the majority of the occupants who are usually there, are now missing. Not in eight years has there been so small a number. The board bill for June was only about one-third what it was this time last year.

The reason for it is probably found in the policy of the sheriff, who keeps the tramps busy working in the park and elsewhere, and they finally get tired of it, and when they are released they are not anxious to get back. Perhaps the "industrial" armies carried away many of the floating population and dumped them in the east. At any rate, Fresno is rid of many worthless characters.

Seeking Information.

Sheriff Scott has received a letter from O. H. Longfellow of Jamesport, Daviess county, Mo., asking for information concerning the children of Henry Newel Longfellow, who died suddenly at Jamesport. He said he had been living in California and Oregon for the past fifteen years and had there had a son named Kenneth and a daughter named Mary, and that his wife was dead and children living with his brother-in-law. He was about 55 to 57 years old, about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches tall, dark eyes, dark hair and beard, considerable gray; was a doctor; also traveled repairing clocks and watches. He was a man of very peculiar habits, dressed plain and wore very coarse, heavy shoes. It has been ascertained that at one time in Illinois he was known by the name of Henry Newell or Dr. Newell.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the children should communicate with O. H. Longfellow.

Interviews With Well-Known Growers.

GRAPES ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

The Crop Probably Will Fall Slightly Short of That of Last Year.

The condition of affairs in the county vineyards is reasonably satisfactory according to the expressions of opinion obtained by a REPUBLICAN reporter yesterday.

G. B. Noble of Noble Brothers said: "The reports to hand are from all parts of the county. My men come in pretty nearly every day and I think I can say that the statement here given is a fair estimate for the entire county.

"The first crop is a little short, but the output of the second crop will be nearly as large as it was last year. The crop of 'layers' will be probably not so large as last year's. The crop of 'loose' will be of very fine quality, that is to say the first crop. Everything is very favorable at present, though many vineyards are suffering from damage done by cut worms, by the hail and by the 'droppings.' It is a little too early yet to speak with any definiteness about prices, but I feel assured that if all the growers enter into a combination prices will be materially helped. There is no doubt of that whatever.

"I have been speaking of Muscatel grapes. The Malagas and dried grapes promise well and there will be a fine crop of Sultanas. The indications are that crops of a finer quality will never have been sent out than this year's.

"As to the labor required, in the usual run of things from 2,000 to 2500 hands are needed to pick the crop of the county. It is a difficult matter to make an exact estimate. Last year there were a very large number of unemployed men from other parts of the country who drifted into Fresno, but only a small part of them went to work in the vineyards or showed any disposition to work. There is no question that if the statement is true that there are 1,000 unemployed men in Fresno at the present time there will be work for all of them who wish to work, but there is no inducement for the unemployed of other counties to come in. The season varies within two weeks, but picking will probably begin about the last week in August, the grapes being a little forward this year. The second crop comes in later, and altogether the prospects are good for work till the end of October.

"Wages have not been fixed yet, but with the scarcity of money and hard times it may be necessary to pay less than in the previous year, when the rate was about $1.50 per diem. Considerable piece work was done last year, but whether any man will be paid by the tray this year I cannot say. Growers will naturally favor home labor, when it is possible to get it."

Alexander Gordon farms about 160 acres of his own and 310 for Oakland people. Last year he delivered 950 tons of raisins and 1170 tons of second crop to a winery. He said: "The vineyards are looking very well, but the crop will be late in my section. The grapes are ripening slowly. The second crop will be pretty heavy, but it will be late also. There is no damage from cut-worms in my vineyard to speak of.

"On the whole I am figuring on about seventy per cent of last year's crop, and if every one of the growers will stand together, prices will be all right. No one should be deluded by any talk of buying or selling in the sweat box; it is merely a scheme to burst the combination and if that is done there will be an end of any prospects of coming out ahead."

Tom Lynch of the Fresno Home Packing company said: "If you listen to all the reports you hear you will find it hard to arrive at an opinion of the raisin crop. Men who have neglected their vineyards will tell you the crop is going to be very short, but those who have looked after their vines are sanguine of a full yield. I think there is going to be a good crop. They got in bloom at the right time. In a general way, the first crop will be a little late, but will be heavy, and the indications are for a very heavy second crop. In some sections the crop is light; in others as good as last year. In the vineyards visited by cut-worms the first crop is suffering. These vineyards will bear a second crop, but it will be late and light. Picking will probably begin about the end of August.

"The local labor market always regulates itself. Many people come in from the mountains, but of course a good deal of the labor that finds employment in Fresno during the raisin-picking season is not here all the year round. There does not seem to be much inducement for outside labor under present conditions. Growers will probably prefer to give a job to those of our own people who are willing to work. Raisin picking is pretty hard work, but a man who really wants a job will not stand out because of that.

No Reply Received.

Up to last evening no reply had been received from the Earl Fruit company at Sacramento to the letter sent by Sheriff Scott, Alexander Gordon and W. M. Wyatt, who had been appointed a committee to request the company to employ white laborers instead of Chinese in the Fresno packing house. This committee wrote several days ago, and an answer has been expected; but it now appears that no reply will be given. Mr. Earl was made acquainted with the fact that there are plenty of white women and girls in Fresno who are able and willing to do the work as well and as cheaply as the Chinese are doing it, and that public sentiment here is strongly in favor of giving the work to white laborers.

KNAUSCH AND GRAVES.

Sanders Alludes to Them in An Unpublished Letter.

About March 10th of this year Prof. W. A. Sanders wrote a letter to THE REPUBLICAN in which he alludes to his deal in the Wootton lands, and speaks of Knausch and Graves without mentioning their names. This was before any inquiry had been made for Wootton, except probably by the hired man on his place. It shows that, at that time, Professor Sanders claimed that Knausch, Graves and Wootton were in Southern California, and from the wording of the letter it seems that they had written to him about the danger of competition from Mexican fruit.

The first paragraph of his letter to this paper is as follows:

"My associates in the scheme to raise citrus fruits near the line of Fresno and Tulare counties, at the edge of the Sierra foothills, have been in Southern California for the past forty days, examining matters connected with citrus culture. They are thoroughly scared as to the prospects for free Mexican fruits, and they ask that I will add my drop to the ocean of public sentiment by souncing the republication of the enclosed from the San Francisco Call of November 2, 1884. The same was published in the daily Chronicle of the preceding day."

Here follows a half column of reprint from the San Francisco Call, which was written by Professor Sanders at that time—1884—on the evils of allowing Mexican fruits to come in free.

But the chief point in the letter is that, about March 10th, or not far from that date, Professor Sanders claimed the same as he claimed at the time of his trial, that Wootton and the others were in Southern California looking at citrus orchards. But, in his trial, nothing was ever said of any letter received from Knausch or Wootton, expressing their fears of Mexican fruit, and asking Sanders to write for the press on the subject. It is not stated what became of that letter. Detectives and officers who searched his office, and found so many other letters, failed to find this one.

He says they had been in the south "the past forty days." They disappeared January 31st, and forty days would place it about March 10th. This was three days before Sanders, according to his own statement, went to Mojave to meet Knausch, and became frightened at the murderous look in the eye of Graves, and fled on a freight train for home.

The letter and the reprint on the fruit situation were not published in this paper for want of space at the time it was received. In the light of subsequent developements in the matter, this letter now may have some additional importance.

A Pleasant Party.

Miss Rose Benites royally entertained quite a large number of her friends Thursday evening at her home, No. 1421 G street. All went for a good time, evidently. None were disappointed, for they all report a most delightful evening. Dancing, vocal and instrumental music were the features of the occasion. At 12 o'clock a sumptuous luncheon was served, to which all did justice. The jolly Quintet Club, consisting of Messrs. Dr. Brewer, Al Shade, Fred Hayes, Billy Sherwood and Robert George, contributed much merriment to the occasion with their excellent music and comic songs.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Benites, Dr. Allen and wife, Misses Essie Graham, Lou Erwin, Josie Clifton, Kate White, Myrtle May, Grace Allen, Miss Martin, Grace Graham, Viola Atwater, Rose Benites, Messrs. Dr. Brewer, Al. Shade, Fred Hayes, Billy Sherwood, Robert George, Ed. Brown, Arch Grant, Arch. Machen, Harry White.

A TURN THAT WAS NOT MADE

A Fresno Business Man and His Bicycle.

O. B. Oluffs, one of the well-known business men of the city, is learning to ride a bicycle, and the patience in trouble and the perseverence under tribulations which he has shown are proof that he will succeed. Few men would ever have touched a wheel again after passing through what he did.

He had already taken several lessons, and had reached that stage in his bicycle education when he he could ride like a whirlwind down hill, but when it became necessary to turn he had to get off to do it. He wanted to learn to make the turn without getting off, and he undertook to do it one day while sweeping along the earth at terrific speed. But he only half-way succeeded, and his wheel headed for a hedge, and he had no time to stop, turn or get off, and into the hedge he went, head-first, and shot half-way through it. He stuck fast in the tangled bushes, and could neither get out backwards nor crawl on through. Fortunately for him, some boys came by, and seeing his predicament, pulled him out by the feet. He says the next time he tries to turn where there is a hedge he will go on past the hedge before he tries to turn.

THE SUPERVISORS.

Grand Jurors to Be Paid for Holidays.

A LIGHT TAX LEVY PROMISED

Coyote Scalp Hunters Scalped by Scalpers—A Holocaust in the Court Yard.

The full Board of Supervisors were present yesterday when the order of business was taken up, and despite the torrid gusts that blew in at the windows the members managed to put in a good hard day's work.

The most important matter before the board was the question of the payment of a per diem to grand jurors for Sundays and legal holidays.

Attorney G. G. Goucher appeared before the board and presented a petition on behalf of thirteen members of the late grand jury. The petition sets forth that on May 7, 1894, a grand jury of nineteen citizens of the county was duly empanelled in department 2 of the superior court, and duly entered upon the discharge of their duties, and remained in constant attendance upon said court until June 7th. That the members of the jury presented their claims for allowance, embracing their per diem charges and mileage, and that the Board of Supervisors took action on the matter at the regular session last June.

The petition urged that in passing upon the claims the board deducted the four Sundays and one holiday which occurred during the session, and declined to allow per diem fees in every case where the same were charged for the five days so deducted. The jurors claimed that by custom and by law they were entitled to their per diem fees for all the days embraced within their term of session, and the board was asked to reconsider its action.

The jurors whose names appeared on the petition were S. F. Dickenson, D. J. McConnell, L. and T. A. Bell.

The matter was temporarily taken under advisement. Later in the day Deputy District Attorney C. C. Merriam, to whom the petition had been referred, appeared before the board and submitted the following opinion:

FRESNO, July 20, 1894.

Hon. F. F. Letcher, chairman Board of Education:—The question having again come before the Board of Supervisors whether the per diem allowed to grand jurors shall include a per diem to each grand juror for each Sunday or legal holiday during the term of the sitting of the grand jury, it is the opinion of the district attorney that the per diem should be allowed as certified by the clerk upon the order of the judge. The order of the judge was that the clerk should include Sundays and legal holidays, and such order is in the nature of a legal decision and construction of the title in question, and it is believed to accord with the intent of the legislature in making the law. The statute was passed in 1872, and is found on pages 525 and 526, volume 4 of Deering's Annotated Codes and Statutes, and as far as this county is concerned, the construction placed upon this statute by the judge who last made the order with regard to the per diem to the grand jurors is the construction which has been followed in this county for twenty-two years. The same construction is also placed upon similar language with reference to other officials receiving per diem for attendance during terms of special periods upon various bodies.

It would seem, therefore, that the only inquiry the Board of Supervisors is authorized to make when a bill for grand jurors' fees is before it, is whether the number of days of the term is correctly stated, and whether the per diem to each grand juror is the per diem to which he is entitled in fact.

In determining the number of days of the term of allowance of the grand jury, Sundays and other legal holidays are properly included, the term really being from and including the day upon which the grand jury is sworn in, to and including the day upon which it is discharged, less days when they are not in session on account of their own adjournment. Respectfully,

FIRMAN CHURCH, District Attorney.
By C. C. MERRIAM, Deputy.

On this Foster moved that the action of the board heretofore taken as to per diem fees to members of the last grand jury be reconsidered, and that the grand jurors named be paid the following sums: G. N. Van Wormer $15, J. N. Poole $15, D. J. McConnell, $15, W. H. Archer $15, R. F. Jack $12, M. O. Stout $15, Thomas Ponton $15, J. R. White $15, Charles Norris $15, Samuel F. Dickenson $15, E. T. Hughes $15, T. A. Bell $15.

The motion prevailed, Wickersham, Foster and Sayre voting aye, and Butler no.

The proceedings were varied by a somewhat novel transaction in the abandoned engine house back of the court house building. Chairman Letcher with Supervisor Foster and Deputy Clerk Johnson repaired to the furnace of the engine house, and while it was blazing with freshly kindled logs they caused to be cast therein 230 coyote scalps, in batches of a dozen or so at a time. The scalps, or rather skins of the coyotes were in a highly odorous condition as they were drawn from the sealed packages and examined according to law. In the words of Hamlet, they "smelled to Heaven," and no one was sorry when the job was over. The identification, counting and destruction of the skins being complete, the vouchers were returned to the county clerk to be by him recorded in favor of the hunters who had brought in the skins.

One of the hunters had brought in twenty-two; another had a score to his credit, while others had sent in one, two, or three skins only. Each skin is supposed to be worth a $5 bounty, but the hunters will be mostly glad to accept $1.50 per skin on their warrants, from the professional warrant shaver or "scalpers." This is due to the fact that the appropriation made for the purpose by the last legislature is exhausted, and the coming legislature may not fix the matter up for a long time if at all, so the scalpers are facing a long wait and a certain amount of risk of failure to appropriate.

The party having returned to the supervisors' chamber, the work of equalization, on which the board has been engaged for the past ten days, was resumed.

The board has commenced figuring on the tax levy for the coming fiscal year, and has reached the conclusion that if either of the political parties carries out its pledges of economy a substantial reduction can be made. Chairman Letcher furnished the following estimate, made on a basis of only $25,000,000: State 50 cents, general 50 cents, indigent 4 cents, school 16 cents, bridge bond 2 cents; total, $1.45 on the $100. The deficiency of $40,000 is met by the road fund of 16 cents, which on the $25,000,000 basis will yield $40,000.

Last year the levy was as follows: State 57 6, general 50, school 17, indigent 5, salary 5 4, road 32, bridge bond ½, building 10; total, $1.80.

The board had to pay $160,000 out of the general fund, which will not be paid this year. The large sum of $70,000 was paid last year for criminal purposes, and there is no reasonable probability that so large an amount will again be called for.

The question of the liquor licenses and the violations of the liquor ordinance will be brought up this morning, and there is no doubt that the board will take decisive action on the question. At least twenty-five complaints are ready to be sworn to.

The work of equalization has been steadily pushed through and the board will probably adjourn on Monday evening and on Tuesday start on a visit of inspection through the mountain roads on the east side of the county.

Angry Baby Kings.

Kings county did not receive any prize at all at the Midwinter Fair, not even a mention of any sort, and the Hanford Journal says the slight was unmerited and inexcusable. They claim to have raisins there which will compare favorably with the best on earth, and the threat is made that M. H. de Young will be remembered when the day comes; but no explanation is made of what coming day is referred to.

HE MET A FRIEND.

There Was a Little Mistake, but It Was a Pleasant One.

His face beamed with surprise and pleasure as on entering the great store he saw a friendly figure and features with which he was familiar confront him just within the door.

"I'm right glad to see you," he said, shifting the satchel he carried from his right arm to his left, and he was about to grasp the hand extended to him when a clerk touched him on the shoulder and inquired:

"What department, sir?"

"Department?" queried the old man turning around. "Am I in the department? I reckon it were only in Wash"——

"This is the dress goods and mantle department," said the clerk blandly.

"Well, young man, I ain' lookin for dress goods, and I dunno as we want another mantel, seein as we hev only one clock, and I made a shelf for that myself. I want a pair of suspenders if so be you keep them. But first I want to speak to my friend here."

He turned about and confronted the smiling face of his friend.

"I don't seem able to name you," he said regretfully. "It's kind of queer, too, when I know you by sight as well as I do myself"——

"Suspenders this way in the gentlemen's furnishing department," here interrupted the clerk.

"That's all right, young man. I don't keer which way they are there. I know how I want 'em, and I ain't a-goin to change my style of wearin suspenders at my age. Now, my friend here"——

He extended his hand, expecting to grasp that of his friend, but his knuckles struck a cold, bare expanse of looking glass let into the wall. Then he saw the face of the clerk over his shoulder, and he knew he had been fooled and had mistaken the semblance of himself for an old friend. And he meekly followed the clerk, bought a pair of red, white and blue suspenders, and walked out of the "department."

"I guess I'll have a gardeen 'pinted 'fore I come to town agin," he remarked humbly as he left.—Detroit Free Press.

They Were Talking About Dogs.

"Well," said Snaggs, "I think many dogs have more sense than their masters."

"Yes," chimed in Craggs. "I have a dog like that myself." And yet he couldn't make out why they laughed.—London Million.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS.

THE CRUEL WAR WILL SOON BE OVER.

The Daily Program at Camp Nunan. Colonel S. S. Wright in Fresno.

Colonel S. S. Wright, who is in charge of the militia forces now gathered at Bakersfield, arrived in Fresno yesterday direct from the seat of war. He came down to attend to some important private legal matters, and the returned again on the evening train.

He speaks in glowing terms of the behavior of the Fresno boys under the strict military rules that are rigidly enforced at the camp, which has been named Camp Nunan. Passes out of camp are very scarce. Only four are allowed to each company, and then they are in charge of a non-commissioned officer and are compelled to stay together.

Colonel Wright says that they have been shown every courtesy by the people of Bakersfield. Of course, the boys are compelled to endure considerable jeering at the hands of some of the strikers and their sympathizers, but the men have been given strict orders not to pay any attention nor to reply to any of the remarks.

When asked how much longer he expected the militia would be kept in the field, he said he was not in a position to answer, but thought they would be ordered home in a few days. A large number of the boys are constantly on the road guarding trains. This has caused a suspension of the company drill in the camp.

The orders of the camp are as follows:

SUNNAN, July 12, 1894.

Camp orders No. 1.

I. A military camp is hereby established at this point until further orders. This camp shall be known as Camp Nunan.

II. The calls will be sounded from the guard house daily by musician of the guard as follows:

Reveille 5:30 a.m., breakfast 6 a.m., surgeon's call 6:30 a.m., fatigue call 7 a.m.

Guard mount: First call 7.25 a.m., second call 7.30 a.m., adjutant's call 7.35 a.m., inspection of quarters 8 a.m., first sergeant's call 8.10 a.m.; company drill (extended order), first call 8.25 a.m., second call (assembly) 8.30 a.m., recall 9.30 a.m., dinner 12 m., supper 6 p.m.

Battalion parade: First call 6.35 p.m., second call 6.40 p.m., adjutant's call 6.45 p.m., tatto 9 p.m., taps 9.30 p.m.

By order of Lieutenant Colonel S. S. Wright. OTHELLO SCRIBNER, Acting Adjutant Battalion.

A number of the Fresno boys came home from the cruel war yesterday on a 24 hours' leave. Before they left camp they were given a dozen instructions to bring back articles of all descriptions which, if gathered together, would fill an ordinary car.

Sergeant J. F. Carpenter, known among the boys as "Jack the Ripper," was among those who came down yesterday. He is acting as assistant commissary, and came down to gather up some camp utensils that were overlooked in their hasty departure. He reports everything about the camps in the mountains to be in the best of condition. He remarked, however, that it was not such a camp as it looked. There are fifty-six men in the mountains guarding fourteen miles of tunnels during the entire night. He says the climate is invigorating, and appetites are increasing at an enormous rate. High five and whist continue to be the leading pastime, and every tent has its champion.

A kangaroo court has been formed in camp and has one special law that it enforces with a severe penalty. Any man who dares shave himself is immediately brought before the magistrate and kangarooed without mercy. Jack says it brings about the desired results.

General Muller has received a communication from General Dimond, in which he speaks in flattering terms of the manner in which the companies of the Sixth regiment handled the trains turned over to them. General Muller and Major Chisholm expect to leave for Bakersfield tonight.

A New Industry.

C. J. Crayeroft has made a new departure, which will fill a long-felt want in Fresno. He has successfully made pressed brick, and the workmanship will compare favorably with brick made anywhere. Heretofore, when pressed brick were needed here, they were brought from a distance, and were so expensive that few could afford to use them. But Mr. Crayeroft will be able to put them on the market here at about one-third the former price. This will, no doubt, lead to their more extensive use here. Fresno has clay as good as can be found anywhere, and has as good workmen, and there is no reason why pressed brick cannot be made here as well as anywhere.

ASTOR IN ENGLAND.

Ubiquitous Tom Ochiltree Tells How the Millionaire Does Things.

The arrival in Washington of Colonel Tom Ochiltree after four years' absence created something of a sensation this week at the capitol. Colonel Ochiltree is always entertaining and has many friends in Washington. He knows everybody, of course, and those that don't know him know of him. When he appeared on the floor of the house the other day, he received something like an ovation. All his acquaintances gathered around him, and the noise was so great that the speaker had to rap for order and suggest that those who occasioned the disorder should retire to the cloak-room. Members clustered around the redheaded rapper of the Rio Grande to congratulate him on the cut of his clothes, the loudness of his trousers, the added 20 pounds of weight which he had gained during his residence abroad and to listen to the latest stories which he brought from across the water about the nobility of London.

The colonel is a great admirer of the British aristocracy. He does not speak familiarly about any one of a lower degree in the peerage than an earl. The way he talks about his friend the duke of this and the duke of that is paralyzing. There is only one gentleman without title in London that Tom speaks enthusiastically about. He is the American named Astor, now running a Tory paper in the British metropolis.

"William Waldorf Astor," said the colonel as he cast his weather eye toward the ceiling, crossed his legs reflectively and waved his hand gracefully through the air, "is paralyzing London by the evidence which he gives of what American wealth and American high breeding can accomplish abroad. He is worth $200,000,000 and would gladly have spent his income in New York had he been given half a show. He is an author and a gentleman. He was anxious to enter politics and presented himself for the suffrage of the people of Gotham as a candidate for congress. As they always do in New York when a gentleman runs for office, Mr. Astor was unceremoniously turned down. He therefore concluded to move temporarily at least to a more congenial clime and is now located in London. His methods have elicited admiration and amazement from that the greatest capital in the world.

"He wished to buy a home. 'What is the best house for sale in London?' asked Mr. Astor. 'Cliveden,' said the attorney. 'It belongs to the Duke of Westminster and can be had for $8,000,000.' 'Buy it,' said Mr. Astor, 'and bring the deeds to me in half an hour, if possible.' 'Good heavens!' exclaimed the attorney, 'it will take several days to consummate the transaction.' 'Consummate it as quickly as possible,' retorted Mr. Astor, 'and if you have six or seven more houses just as good trot them out.'

"He got Cliveden and is now spending $1,000,000 in fitting it up, and he is beating the dukes on their own ground. A few days after Mr. Astor, who has literary tastes, inquired in a casual manner whether any first class paper was for sale. 'I want the best there is in the market,' said Mr. Astor, 'and I want it quick too.'

"'The Pall Mall Gazette,' said the attorney, 'can be purchased, but the price is enormous.' 'Never mind the price, but go and buy it for me.' The bargain was struck the same evening. The next morning Mr. Astor sent for several unemployed dukes, earls, marquises and viscounts, and offered them jobs as editors and reporters on his paper. They said their prices would be necessarily high, owing to their social positions.

"'Expense cuts no figure with me,' said Mr. Astor. 'My object is purely a philanthropic one, which is to relieve the suffering and distress among the nobility of England.' His managing editor wears a coronet as he uses the blue pencil. His police reporter is a descendant of a family which came over with Billy the Conqueror. The society reporter, when off on his vacation, lives in a baronial castle in Yorkshire. No such staff is found on any other paper on the globe. When Mr. Astor gets up in the morning and rings for coffee and toast, his managing editor is waiting outside the door to receive orders for the day. A tap of his bell summons three earls and a marquis. He tried to get a countess for the lady cashier of the business office and was much disappointed at failing to do so, but expects before the season is over to complete a transaction with a dowager duchess, who will lick postage stamps and add dignity to the down stairs department of the paper.

"It can naturally be supposed that Mr. Astor's lavish display of wealth and praiseworthy efforts to relieve distress among the nobility in London have brought him into great prominence. No one puts on any frills to him, I tell you. Americans are proud of a man who could buy out the royal family and yet is a simple citizen of the United States, holding up its banner and defending its democratic traditions.

"Mr. Astor did not like the hotel in London at which he was obliged to stop. He sent for his attorney. 'Where is the best site for a hotel in London?' asked Mr. Astor. 'The Thames embankment,' replied the attorney. 'Buy it,' said Mr. Astor. 'It is not for sale,' said the attorney. 'Anything is for sale,' said Mr. Astor, 'if the price is high enough.' The attorney worked for six weeks, but was unable to secure the entire Thames embankment. He did, however, purchase an acre of ground for $1,000,000, and Mr. Astor would have put up a $10,000,000 hotel if the Times had not been so stringent and his income slightly reduced. Before long we may expect to see another Waldorf hotel in London of which William Waldorf Astor will be the owner."—Washington Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Insulted.

An American traveler relates that, alighting at a hotel in Granada, a man at the door put out his hand toward him. The traveler supposed that the man was the porter of the hotel and offered him his valise. The man stepped back, tossed his head and frowned scornfully. "Caramba!" he exclaimed. "Do you take me for a porter? I would have you understand that I am no porter." "Indeed? Then may I ask you, senor, what you are?" "I am a beggar, sir, and asked you for alms."—San Francisco Argonaut.
